

Economics curriculum and its objectives

Aims of curriculum:- The main aim of economics curriculum is to provide detailed training of economics to students. For it, it would be inappropriate to specify a common syllabus for all ~~students~~ classes of a school.

Therefore a good curriculum should have the following purposes:-

1. The chief aim of a curriculum is to undertake all-round development of students.

2. An aim of the curriculum is to cultivate students' interest, abilities, and capabilities.
3. The curriculum should cultivate the spirit of secularism and democracy.
4. The curriculum should cultivate social traits as honesty, truthfulness, goodwill etc.
5. The curriculum should be such that students can construct their life values themselves.
6. The curriculum should cultivate inherent facilities of students.
7. An important aim of the curriculum is to construct ~~the~~ able citizens.
