

The Process of Listening

According to Savicobare (1999) - Listening and understanding speech requires linguistic competence and previous knowledge. The listener is involved in guessing, predicting, checking, inferring, interacting and organizing the message with the help of prior knowledge.

In listening two types of information are engaged that are given below: —

* Use of Details

1. Linguistic Competence

Phonology, Lexis,
Syntax, Semantics,
Grammar.

2. Previous Knowledge.

Knowledge on topic,
Context, Social
Setting, High Cognition.